

Through Your Eyes

How do you see the world?

What if you could see the world through another person's eyes...

What's it all about?

We will work with you and your community or youth group for a series of sessions exploring well-being and poverty at home and around the world.

Groups will share learning with other participants through art forms such as drama, creative writing, photography or painting.

We are initially looking for groups to be involved in a pilot sessions — we are flexible and will work with your needs.

How will it work?

We will work with your group ideally alongside the normal group leader, delivering three or more sessions. There are opportunities for the work to be extended between or after the sessions.

Sessions can take place from January 2010 and are fully funded.

Good to know...

Through Your Eyes is new and different! The project has been inspired by 'Through Other Eyes', a project developed by the University of Sao Paulo and the University of Canterbury.

This project is run by Nina and Davina from Bridges. Nina Cowley has carried out community work in the UK and Mongolia, and worked for VSO before joining Bridges in 2009. Since joining Bridges in 2004, Davina Allen has run projects on global issues with groups of all ages, and previously worked as a secondary school geography teacher.

Bridges is a Shropshire based organisation promoting awareness of global issues and diversity and looking at the issues that connect people across the globe. We aim to empower people to bring about change for a better world. www.shropshirebridges.org.uk
